OASIS 2012-2013

The goal of this year's Oasis staff was to strive for an aesthetic that spoke to the nature of the Centennial celebration. In this, we hoped to create a yearbook that was stylistically reminiscent of the past century. A reflection of the last 100 years was emphasized through the photos used on the divider pages. These photos range in decades but all reflect NNU life. Additionally, we carefully selected typefaces and created ornamentation that were inspired by the early 20th century, specifically the 1923 Oasis yearbook.

LEADERS

As students of NNU, we are blessed to have a group of extraordinary leaders. They use their time to invest in student's lives and make the NNU experience the best that it can be. The leaders include: President Alexander, the Board of Trustees, Faculty, Staff, and on-campus leaders. This group of leaders not only makes important decisions about the future of NNU but they also touch the lives of students every day. Whether it's a helping hand from a professor or handshake from the President himself, the NNU leaders really care about the students and making NNU the welcoming place that it is today.

LEADERSHIP

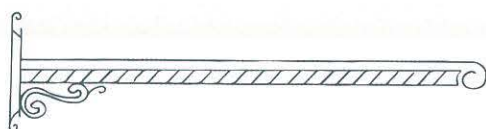

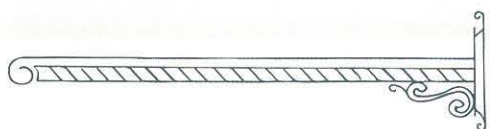

LEAD RETREAT

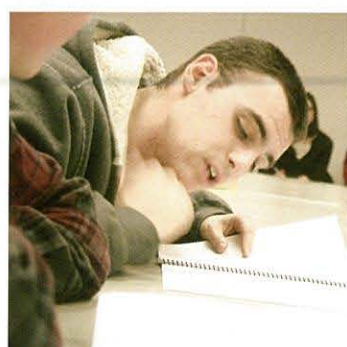

Student leaders from all areas of campus come together at the beginning of the year to prepare to lead their peers in social and academic ventures. This year, all student leaders congregated in early August at Trinity Pines to listen to motivational speakers and participate in team building activities to become stronger leaders for the betterment of NNU.

SENATE & CLASS COUNCIL

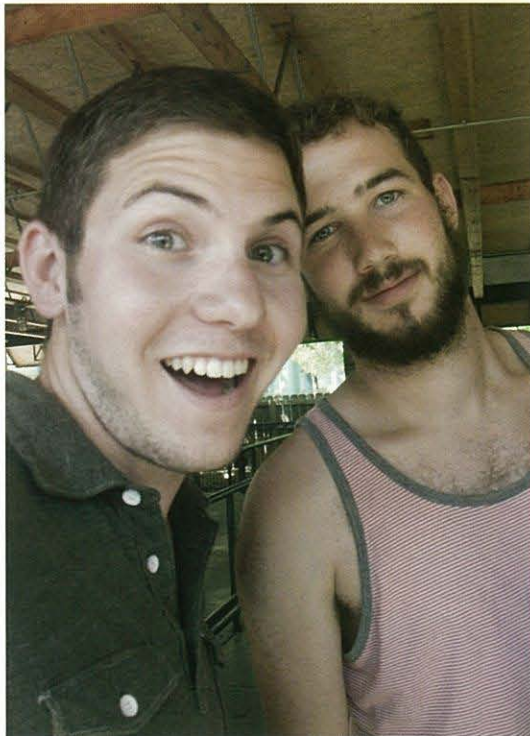

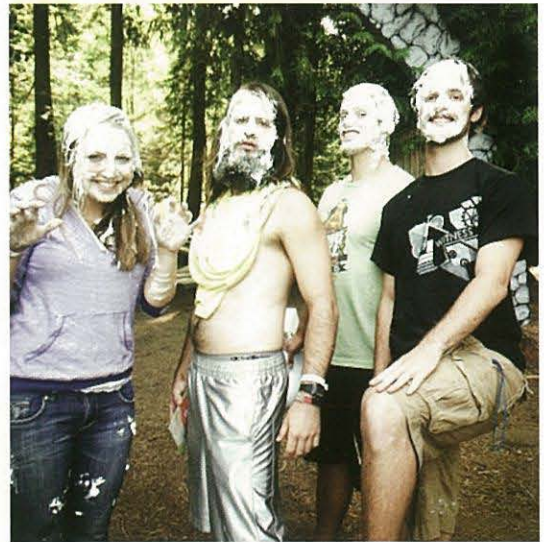

Northwest Nazarene University's student body delegates specific people from each class to make important decisions. These selected people are placed on Senate and Class Council. Senate makes decisions on where funds should be student spent and when specific rules should be implemented. Class Council plans some of the events that are put on such as Fresheree, Mr. NNU, and Homecoming.

COVENANT & WITNESS

Covenant and Witness are the two student groups that dedicate their summers to traveling across the northwest region, visiting churches and summer camps to build relationships with different communities. The 2012-2013 Covenant team consisted of: Aaron Moschitto, Adam Freiburghaus, Angela Archer, Brittney Miller, Christopher Peck, Jon Reimer, Kaitlyn Carlow, and Nathan Knox. The Witness team consisted of: Autumn Tustin, Greyson Kilgore, Jordan Sevier, Michelle Borbe, Roman Lyon, and Samantha Lundberg.

PEER MENTORS & MULTICULTURAL MENTORS

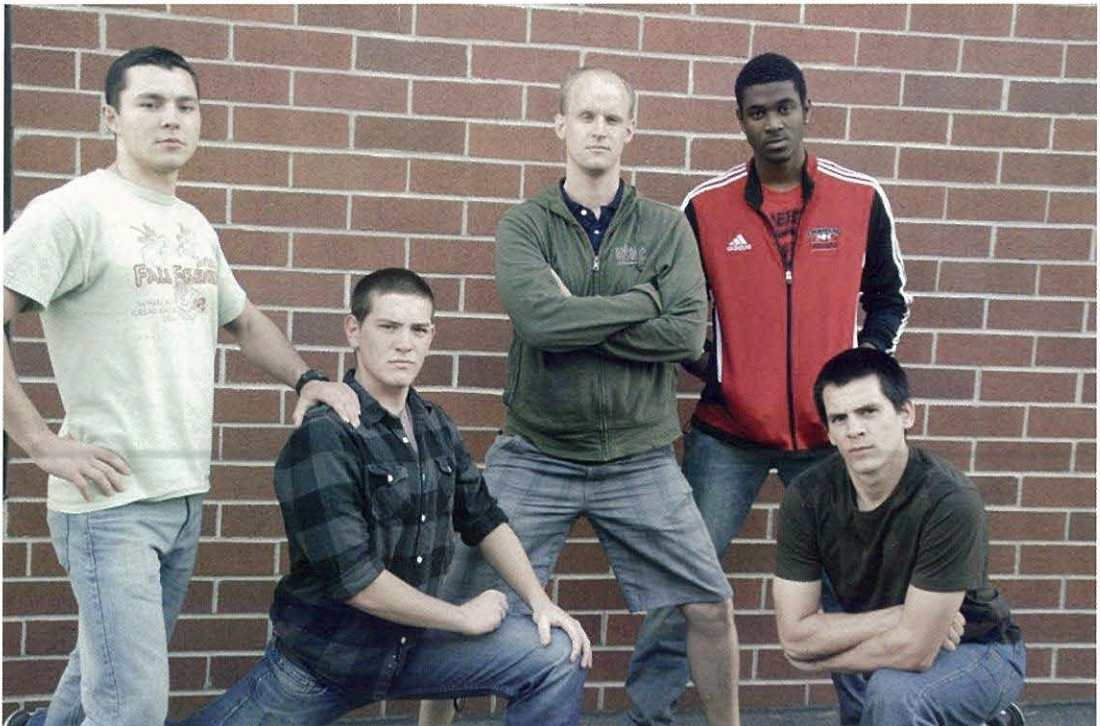

Peer Mentors and Multi-Cultural Mentors are two groups of student leaders that are dedicated to keeping students involved and happy. Each freshman student has their own Peer Mentor led by Stephanie Bartlow and our international students are assigned a Multi-Cultural Mentor led by Jamie Coleman.

FORD & CULVER

Ford and Culver are NNU's two freshman dorms. Ford is lead by Resident Director, Lindsay Kuhl and Culver is lead by RD Mark Baas. These dorms participate in a number of fun activities throughout the year including wing dings, wing flings, and Twix's. Kristina Wineman, Ford RA, shares that some of the highlights of her year in Ford were "movie nights, pranks, scavenger hunts, Dutch Bros runs, Blazen Burger's treats, and most of all, seeing God work within the lives of the girls in Ford Hall."

SUTHERLAND & DOOLEY

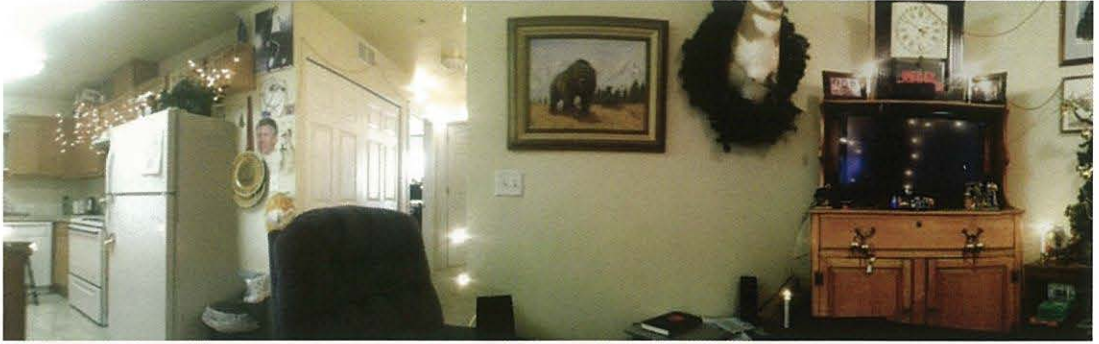

Dooley and Southerland are the two sophomore dorms on NNU's campus. Dooley RA Ella Jamieson shares that one of her favorite memories of the year was "The first official dance of NNU! Dooley Hall's! It was so fun. Photobooth, Dj's, Food, Prizes, Disco Ball and More! We also had lots of low key fun lobby events such as movie & food nights!"

CORLETT, OLSON & KIRKEIDE

Junior and Senior students live in Corlett, Olson, and Kirkeide. The Resident Director of Corlett and Olson is Danna Hammer and Kylee Ball is the RD of Kirkeide. These three dorms host multiple events throughout the year including movie nights, holiday celebrations, and the famous Corlett snack night featuring Danna's Donuts.

BAND

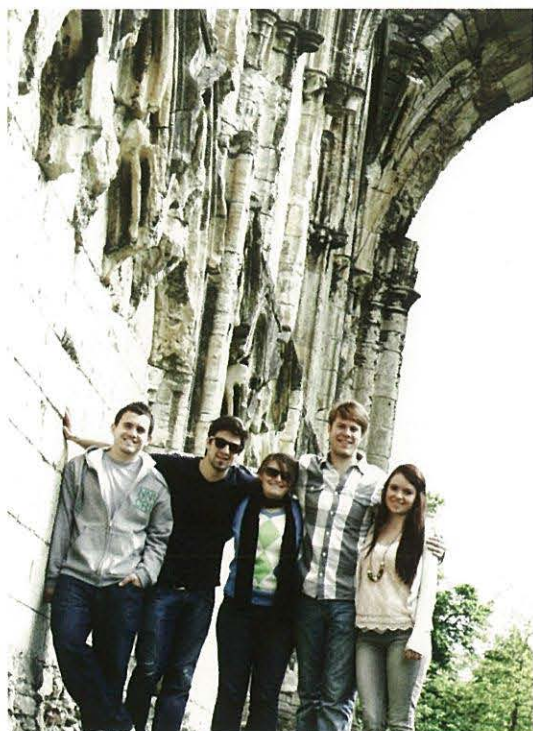

Directed by Dr. Christopher, NNU takes pride in our wonderful band. Whether they are exciting the crowd at a basketball game or performing at a recital in the Brandt Center, the NNU band is a wonderful source of culture and talent.

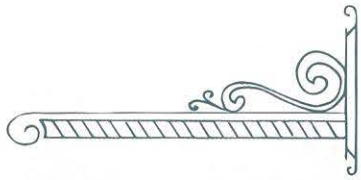

CHOIRS

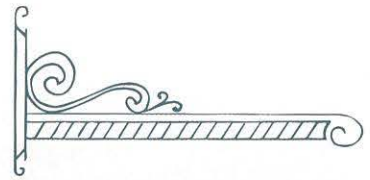

Dr. Barry Swanson and Dr. Judy Marlett lead the NNU choirs. Students gather to practice multiple times a week and perform at various events across the nation and even around the globe. Students enjoy participating in choir because they create close friendships and they enjoy singing together as a large group.

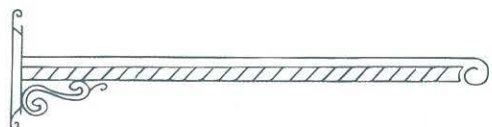

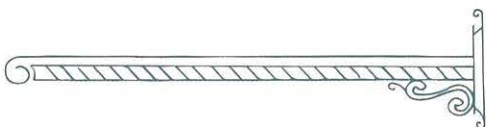

CLUB DAY

Club Day was an exciting event showing the student body the many ways that they can get involved in either the community or around the world. IJM, Angels Club, Free Hugs Club, FCA, PALS, and Invisible Children were a few of the many clubs that were present. The Ministry Club Fair was a great success, involving many students in new ways to reach out to Nampa's community.

STUDENT Life

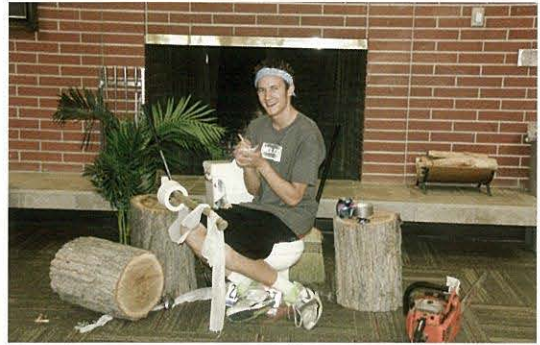

SUMMER MISSIONS

NNU highly encourages students to travel around the globe to affect and be affected by different cultures. In the summer of 2012, many students chose to voyage around the world to do just that. Callie Pugel went to Puerto Maldonado, Peru, Ryan Harding and Kaitlyn Haley went to Kolkata, India, Deborah Freitas went to Brazil on a nursing mission, Miranda Cooper and Kayla Carlson went to Ecuador, Janie Garringer went to Ukraine, and Courtney Shroeder, Roman Lyon, Katelyn Rusch, Robbie Schwench, Christina Yang, and Adam Freiburghaus went to Ghana, Africa.

MOVE-IN DAY

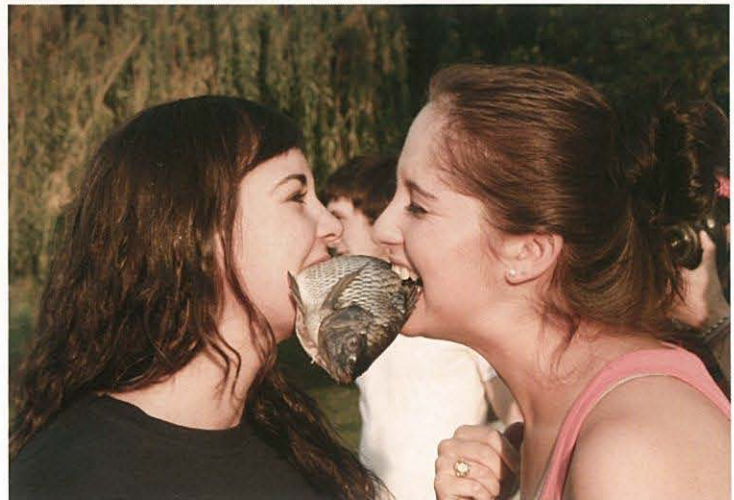

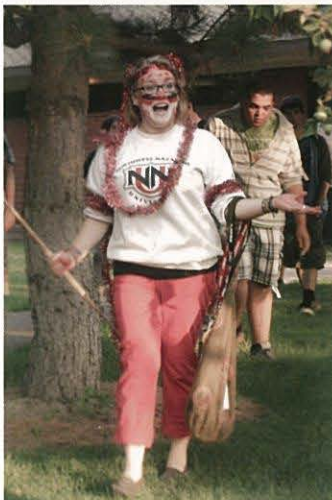

Move-in day is not merely a time for rearranging furniture and crying mothers, it is also a day of friendly reunions and basking in the Nampa sunshine! Each year, all of the student leaders gather in front of the Ford and Culver dorms to assist the brand new students in carrying their many boxes up to their rooms and extending a warm welcome to the brand new Crusaders.

SCAVENGER HUNT

The Week One theme of Olympics: Just Run with It prevailed in the annual scavenger hunt. This hut was a running of the torches as freshmen teams, each led by an SGA member, rotated through 6 different competitive stations. Everything from passing fish neck-to-neck, to flour and nylon wars, to the grand finale of a milk chug was enjoyed with laughter and squeals by the freshman class. Brittany Miller coordinated this event, she shares “teams cheered, felt awkward, and got dirty...so yes, I would say it was a successful running of the torches. I mean, seriously, when else to you get grouped together with about ten other random peers and spend that time traveling around a strange campus biting into dead fish, flinging nylons filled with flour around your head, cracking eggs on others heads using pool noodles, or feel the slightest bit compelled to drink a gallon of milk all for freshman glory?”

BONFIRE

The SGA bonfire is a well-loved Week One tradition. This year, as SGA lit the ginormous bonfire, students mingled, danced, and ate delicious snacks. S'more's were available for students to toast, as well as foil banana boats and a large variety of candy. Olivia Hicks shared that her favorite part of the Week One Bonfire is "greeting everyone after a long summer apart... and the snacks!"

ROOTBEER-FEST

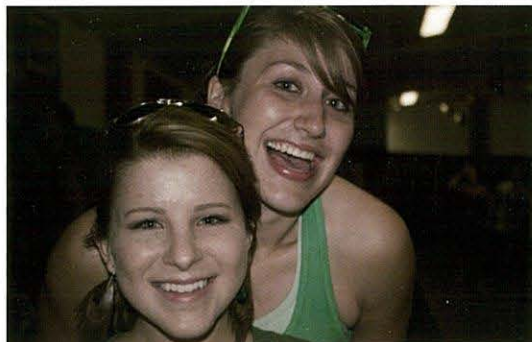

This year at Rootbeer-Fest students sat on the large grassy area beside the Brandt Center and enjoyed watching Disney's "Cool Runnings". Before the movie each class council had a skit to share, highlighting the various activities that are included in the Olympics; the sophomore class had a synchronized swimming act that will not be soon forgotten. Many flavors of popcorn, candy, and of course delicious root beer floats, were available for students to snack on as they enjoyed the outdoor movie.

FRIDAY NIGHT LIGHTS

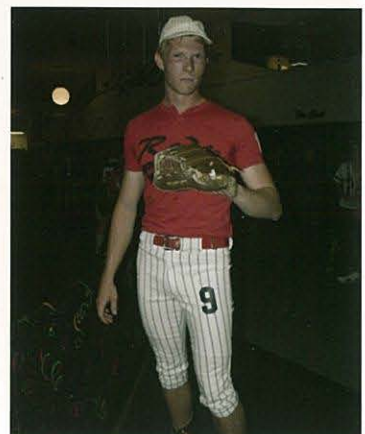

This outrageous event was filled with steal-the-bacon, tug-of-war, water balloon volleyball and dance off competitions. The Olympic theme of Week One carried over to this event with torches and spandex as far as the eye could see. Everyone had their games faces on but Corlett girls came out on top.

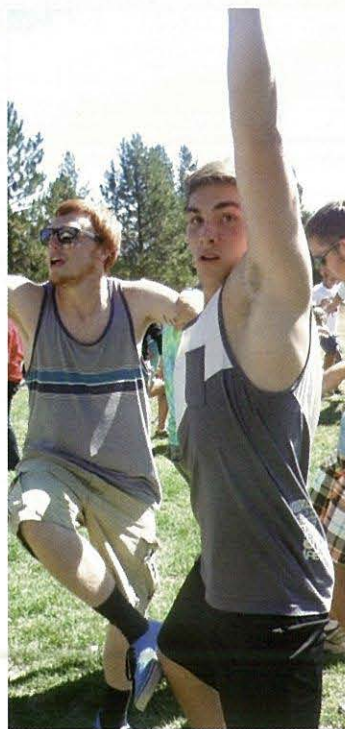

ROLLERSCAMMING

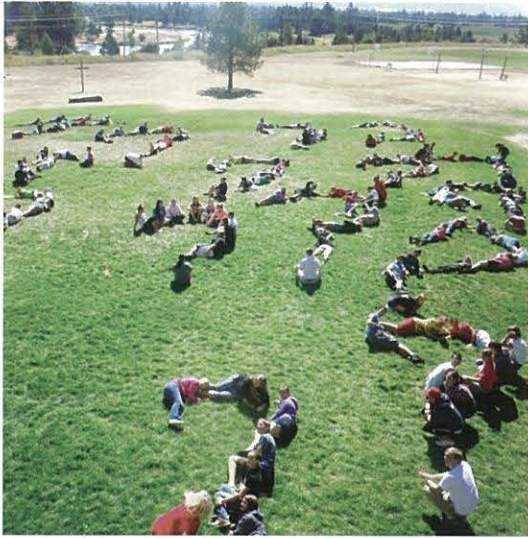

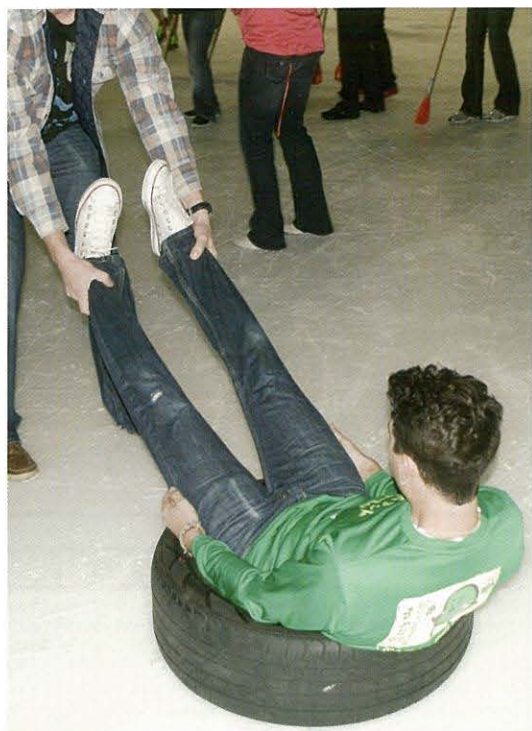

Brittney Miller, our Social Vice President, coordinated the annual event we call Rollerscamming. She states, “we kicked off the year by literally packing out the Nampa Rollerdrome in a wide range of costumes fit to the theme Olympic theme, ‘Athletes through the Ages’. We had everything from a curling team to gymnasts, basketball players to boxers, and even a Jamaican bobsled team, courtesy of Sutherland, who went home with the Gold Medal in Costumes. Complete with a human curling, a class relay with torches, and more students than ever before, NNU brought “the athletes” back to their glory days!”

FRESHMAN RETREAT

At the beginning of the school year, NNU's freshman class has the opportunity to head over to Trinity Pines for some class bonding. Student leaders attend to lead games and help the freshman students co-mingle and make new friends. Teagan Cameron was one of the lucky student leaders that had the opportunity to attend, she shares, "freshman retreat was aca-awesome. Leading the group games and the line dancing were my favorite extracurricular activities."

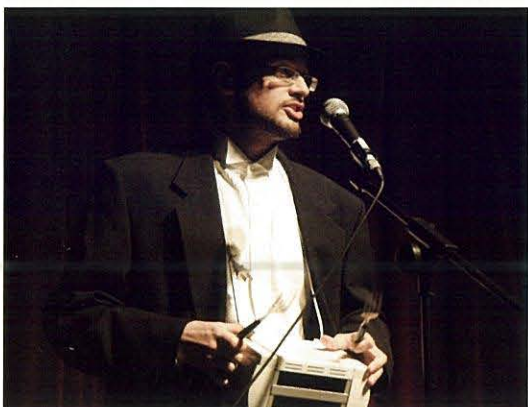

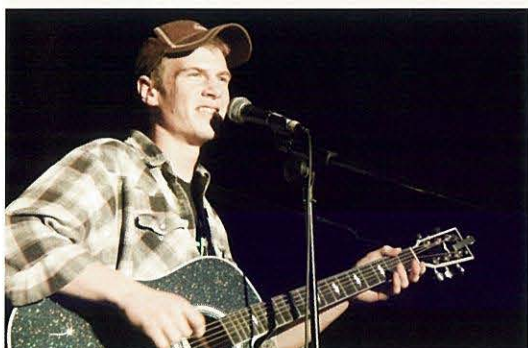

BROOM HOCKEY

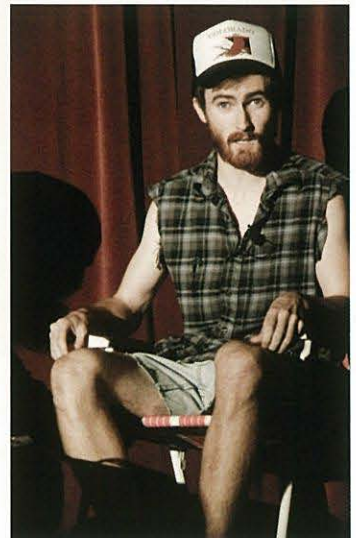

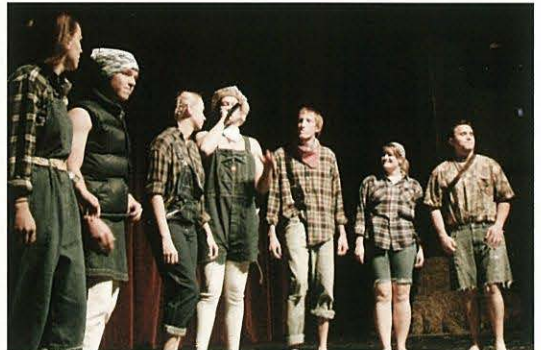

Broom Hockey is an annual Week One favorite that takes place at Boise Ice World. Brittany Miller was in charge of planning, she shares, “this was all about class competition! Suited up in class colors, NNU students joined at the Boise Ice World for a night on the ice, but with absolutely no ice skates! It was a fun, chilly, and exhilarating night of broom hockey and other games. Red light, green light, class dodge ball tournament, girls and guys shootout, and a slippery four person relay. People were probably bruised and rosy cheeked, but this was a class competition well worth it.”

FRESH EREE

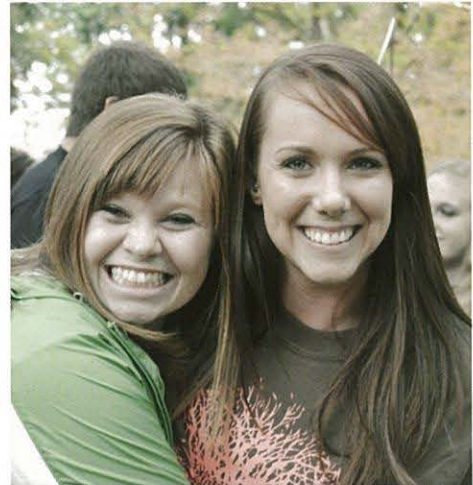

A talent show that is guaranteed to give you some laughs! This Redneck themed occasion had great acts such as: zombie dancers, synchronized showering, singing, and SNL skits. MC-ed by Cody Pearson and Jordan Sevier, this annual event isn't something that any student wants to miss.

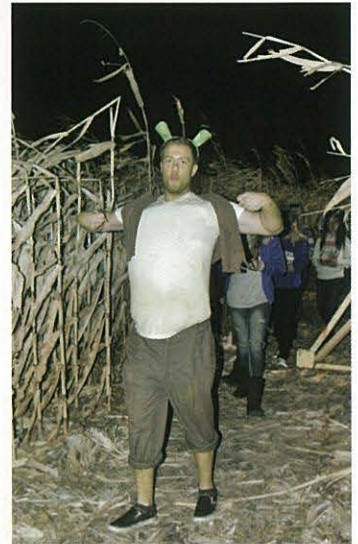

TWIRP

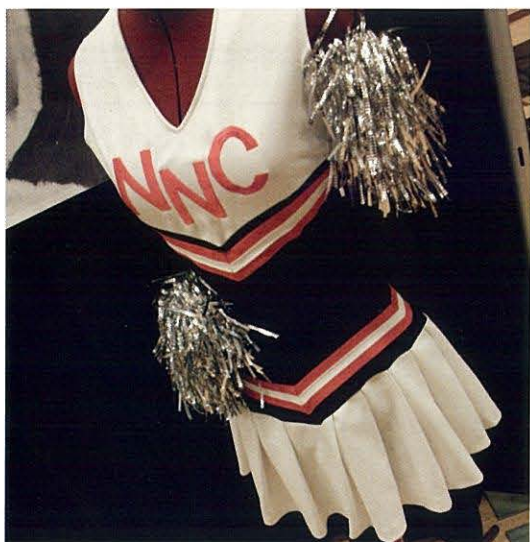

TWIRP 2012 was a fairy tale to remember. Friday started out with Panda Express for dinner, a comedy show, and a giant flash mob in Downtown Boise, then to the aquarium to pet a shark and the dollar theater for delicious popcorn and a great movie. The weekend was topped off with extravagant costumes, caramel apples, corn maze and a castle.

HOMECOMING

The Junior Class Council was in charge of our big centennial homecoming celebration this year. This included the Homecoming Coronation and Senior Slick. Missy Colby, Junior Class President shares, "after the men's basketball game, there was a party in the Dex for students, alumni, and faculty. The theme was '70s and we had some great entertainment including The Ladies from the '80s, Jazz Revival, the recognition of the 100 beards, a word from the basketball team, and a spoof of Back to the Future, starring Dr. Alexander and Spencer Hassman. The room was decorated with enlarged pictures of NNC in the '70s. Also, we had a throwback to the '70s with a car bash by the track. This was a huge 'hit!'" Laura & Johnathan Vanderschaaf were voted Homecoming King and Queen. "Overall, both events were a huge success and had record breaking attendance due to the fact that it was the Centennial Homecoming."

FALL PLAY

This year's fall play was the production of "Our Town" by Thornton Wilder. The story follows seemingly average people from a quiet New England town. We follow the lives of George Gibbs and Emily Webb on their road to adulthood, as they learn some pretty big life lessons. The play was a bit of a challenge for the actors for the script calls for minimal set and no props. Along with the other Homecoming activities, "Our Town" was a major highlight to NNU students and parents alike.

PROCRASTINATION PARTY

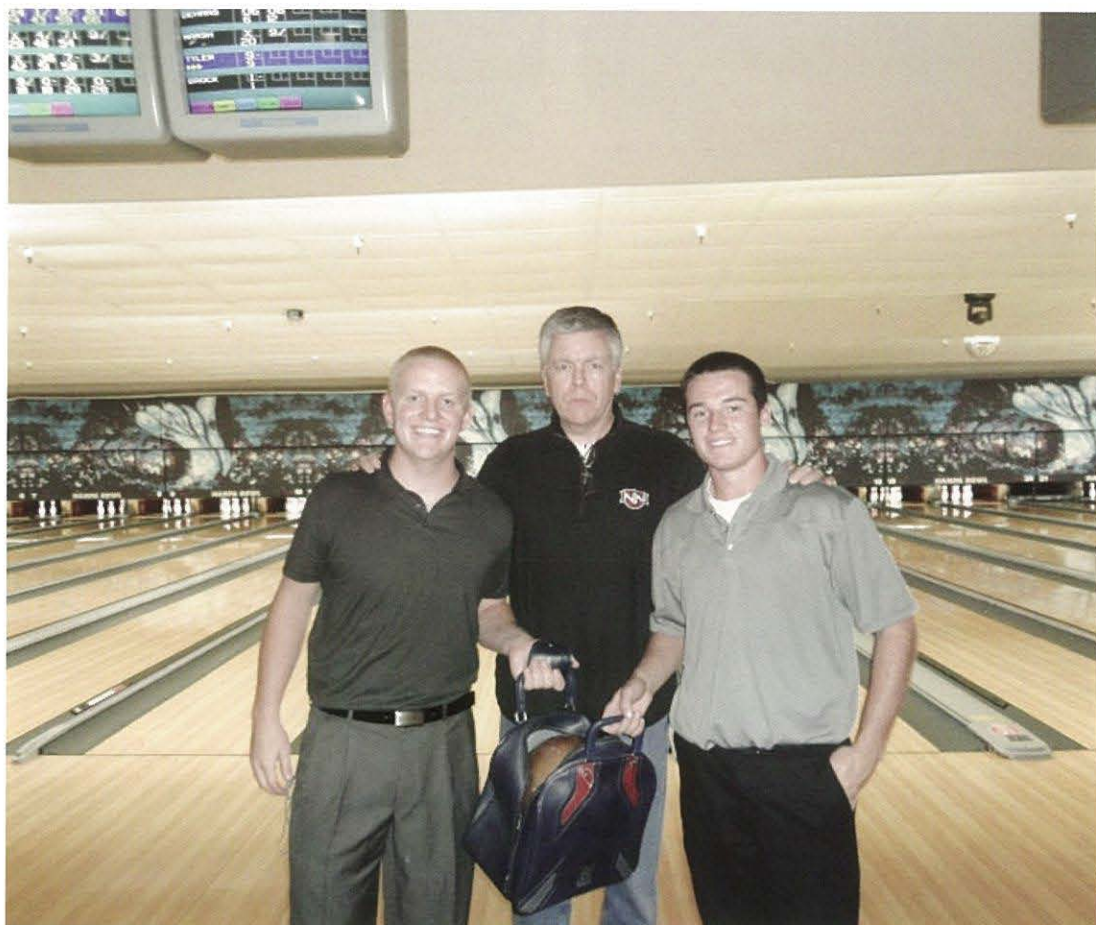

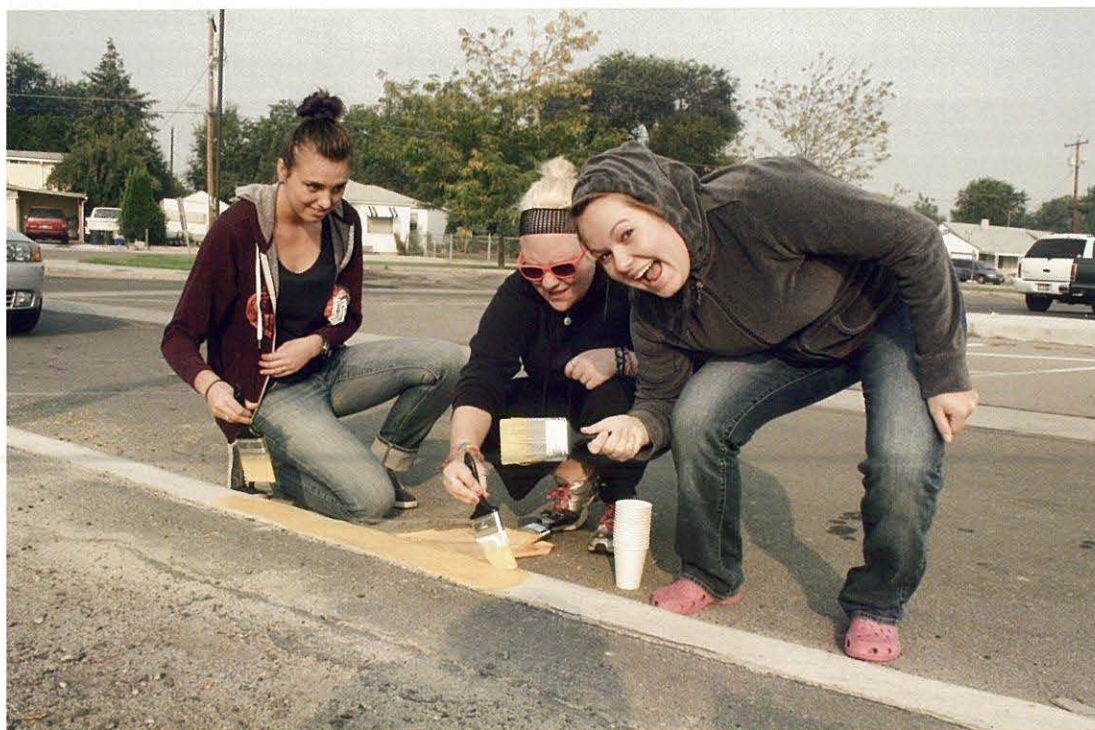

One of the favorite events of NNU students during finals week is the annual Procrastination Party. Things like gingerbread house decorating, sitting on Santa's lap, and eating tons of snacks gave a much needed study break. Students of all ages used the time to relax and have a laugh before hitting the books again for the dreaded finals.

CAMPUS LEAGUE ACTIVITIES

Kenton Lee, Assistant Director of Campus Life, put together many activities in order to get the student body interacting. Events like: the chili cook-off, tagged, and human v. zombies gave the students an opportunity to show off their cooking or surviving skills. Even if you didn't participate, everyone enjoyed watching their fellow students plan and scheme their way through one of the many great Campus League Activities that Kenton put together.

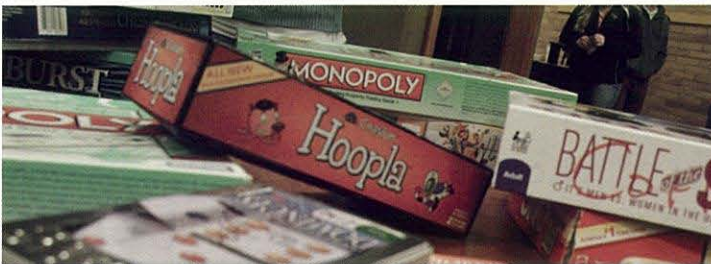

SERVE DAY

This fall, NNU students served 14 schools in the Nampa School District. At each school, students did yard work, a general clean up of the campus, and a few painting jobs. Samantha Hill, Community Relations Coordinator, shares that “Serve Day is one of my personal favorite activities because we are being helpful, productive and I always meet students I did not know before.” The response from schools was highly positive; not only did Sam receive multiple notes of gratitude, but the NNU volunteers were asked to help at these schools again in the spring.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT LIVE

"From a sit-back and relax style funny Youtube video night to a more hands-on experience with the Reptile Guy, WNL has been full of crazy acts and lifelong memories. With local flavor including Mickey the Jump and on-campus musicians and improvisers, students were able to take a break from their studies, be entertained, and discover a little bit more of what makes NNU so great. It was a place for students to show off their talents, gather a few laughs, try some new foods, and fellowship with each other in a very kickback and enjoyable setting," stated Elizabeth Beaty, the coordinator of Wednesday Night Live.

in the PERK AT 10

TIME OUT

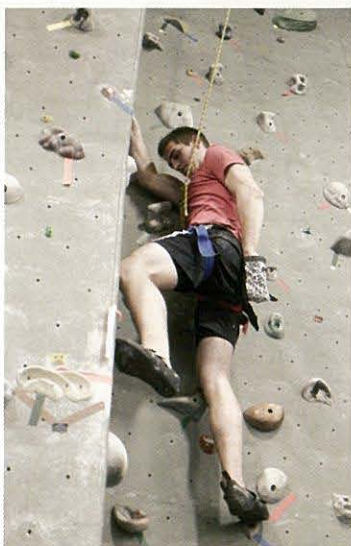

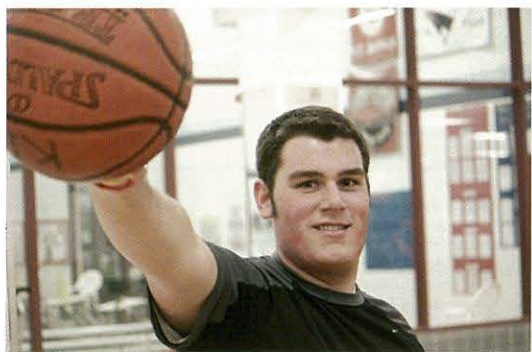

Kaylee Bunn, the Ministries Coordinator, put together some very memorable Timeout's this year. Whether it was a guest speaker, a professor, or one of our fellow students, Kaylee worked hard to keep the spiritual fire burning through campus. Prayer stations, and other types of worship were also used in order to keep the student's actively praising the Lord. Student's not only used this time as a break from homework, but as a "timeout" from busy college life to focus in and worship together as one student body.

THE BRICK HOUSE

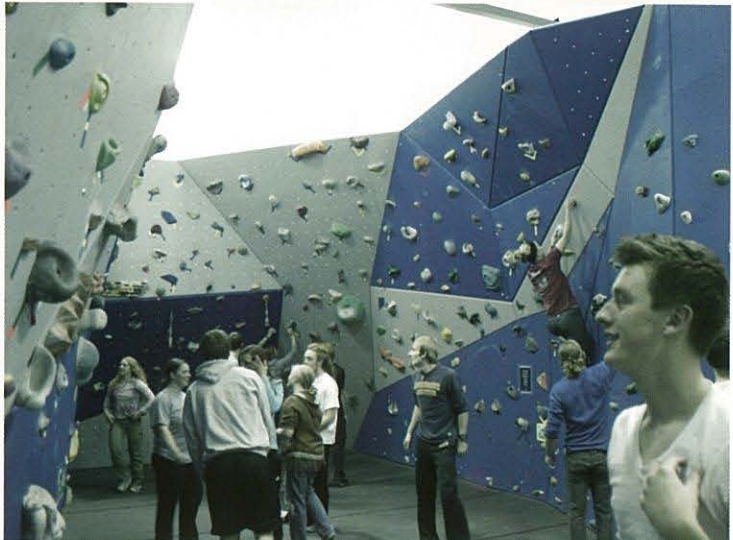

Nerd baths, bricks, or a latte; the Brick House has always been a place for great drinks and even better friends. “Living and working in the Brick House has been such a blast this year. I’ve thoroughly enjoyed getting to work with the students to create a cozy environment and a fun house! I’ve loved getting to know students and getting to be a part of their lives...I’ve loved getting to sit and talk with the students that come over to hang out, study, or watch movies,” stated Jessica Novello.

WEEK BACK

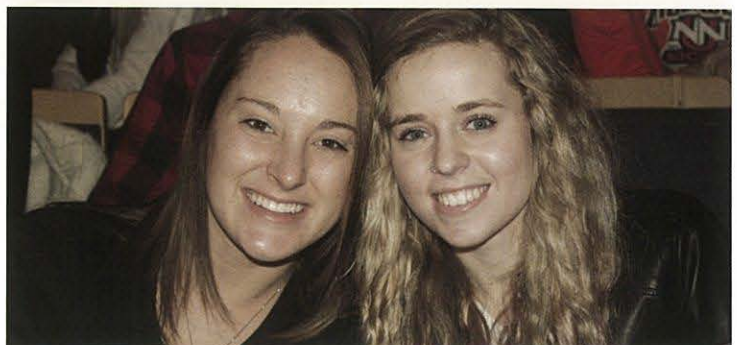

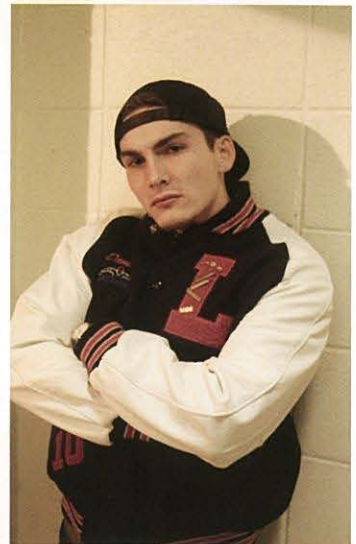

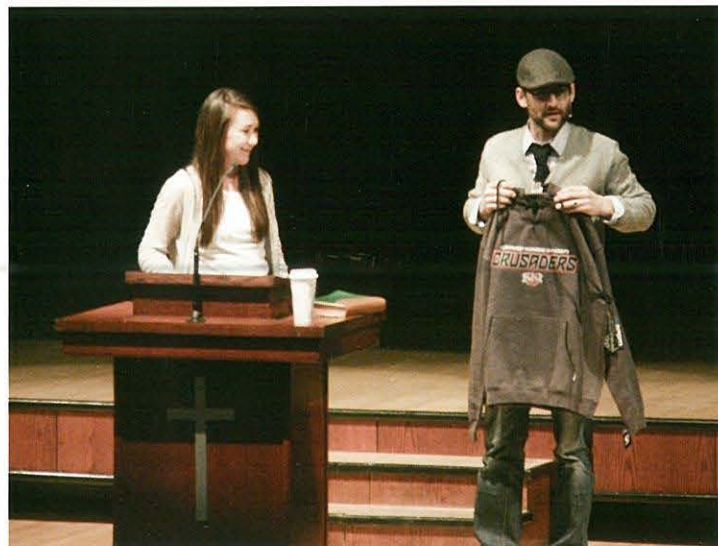

After a long winter break, NNU students are ready to come back to campus and reunite with all of their terribly missed roommates and friends. To celebrate a new semester, Brittney Miller, our Social Vice President, coordinated a night at the Nampa Rec Center! Before heading over for breakfast food, sports, socializing, swimming, and rock climbing, students met in the Amity Perk to tie dye anything their hearts desired!

MR. NNU

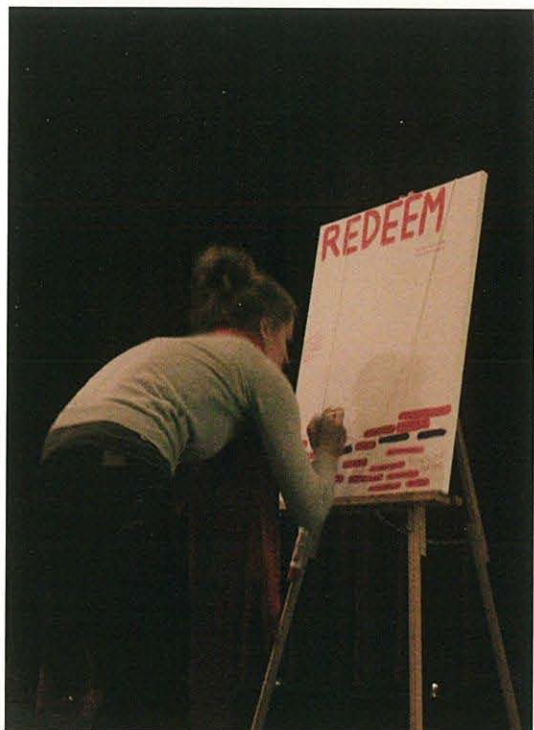

This years Mr. NNU, put on by the Freshman Class Council, included the help of: Shadirah Hall, Nicole Wade, Kasondra McCreary, Ashley Wetzels, Jake Hanson, Brent Conrad, Lexi Sterling, Lucas Lyon, Audra Jenson, Stephen Bryant, and Rachel Bryant. The contestants in Mr. NNU include Spencer Rapp, Taylor Aiken, Spencer Hassman, Jon Wren, Aaron Weibe, TJ Doogan, Tim Vanderpool, and Chad Larson, with Aaron being crowned the winner. The theme of high school stereotypes brought out many funny costumes and sketches. Skits like: the lifeguard, drivers training, ping pong, itty's bittys spider and kids on the couch had students rolling on the floor with laughter.

WINTER AWAKENING

This years Winter Awakening speaker was Nate Roskam, the youth ministries pastor at Nampa First Church of the Nazarene. Students enjoyed listening to Nate speak about discipleship and what that means to us here at NNU. Kaylee Bunn, the coordinator of the event, also encouraged staff to be a part of this event in order to ensure that the students know that they aren't going through this journey alone. The four different occasions that Nate spoke will forever be remembered by the everyone who attended for it help to shape their faith journey.

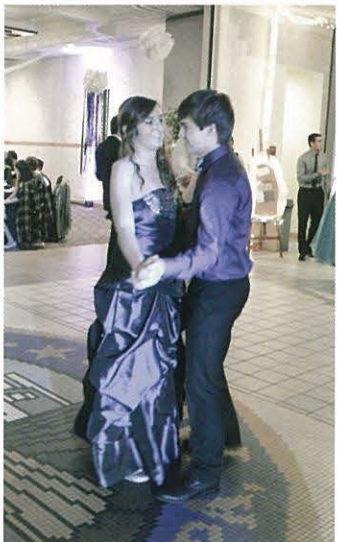

THE BLACK TIE

This was an evening where everyone dressed up and masqueraded around the Nampa Civil Center (no pun intended). Brittney Miller, the coordinator of the event, stated this about the event: "Black tie was complete with dinner, ballroom dance instructions, a live band, a Harlem Shake, dessert, President and Mrs. Alexander, and plenty of photograph opportunities. We had a limo raffle for eight lucky tables to receive transportation to and from the event. The Masquerade was a smashing and elegant success that ended with "the masking" of couple Nathan Knox and Kaitlyn Carlow, determined by a dance off. It was a night to remember; a night over 400 people took part in, a night of fancies for the good ol' NNU."

SPRING MUSICAL

This year's spring play was "Peter Pan". The high-flying musical took the viewers on a journey with Peter (played by Jana DeSimone), and Wendy (played by Jordan Hazen) to the magical place of Neverland. Jana stated this about her favorite part of playing Peter and the play: "I loved every second of flying and rehearsal basically meant I got to hangout with a bunch of great people." The astounding play sold out the Brandt Center almost every night that it showed. Children and adults alike were able to fly away with the cast of "Peter Pan" and will forever have pixie dust in their hearts.

SPORTS

MEN'S SOCCER

The men's soccer team had a record-breaking season this year, finishing second in the Great Northwest Athletic Conference. Chris Voth shared that one of the highlights of the season was beating Simon Fraser at their place 2-1. Until this game, Simon Fraser had a home winning streak since November of 2010.

VOLLEYBALL

The women's volleyball team had an exceptional run this year with a 15-14 overall, and 8-10 in conference. With players like Heather Allen who is the leader in number of blocks and Becky Flores who leads in kills, it's no wonder the Crusaders swept away their opponents.

CROSS COUNTRY

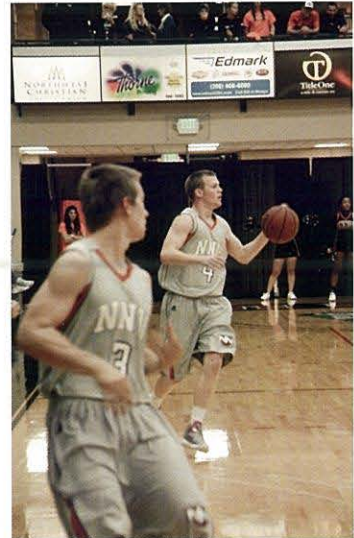

Marie Miller, a runner on the Cross Country team stated that: "Both the men's and women's cross country teams ran very solid throughout the entire season. There were a lot of PR's and because of that we were able to finish at regionals in Hawaii, which was an awesome experience and a great way to end another fun season together."

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

The women's basketball team had an outstanding season with an unbelievable 20-9 record! This led to the team being voted in to play in Round One of the NCAA Tournament in Seattle, WA. Megan Hingston was also honored by earning a spot on the 2012-13 Division II Bulletin Honorable Mention Team. The women played hard and always drew a big crowd, their season was nothing short of a slam dunk!

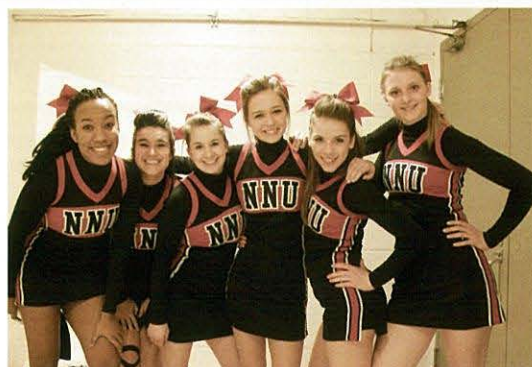

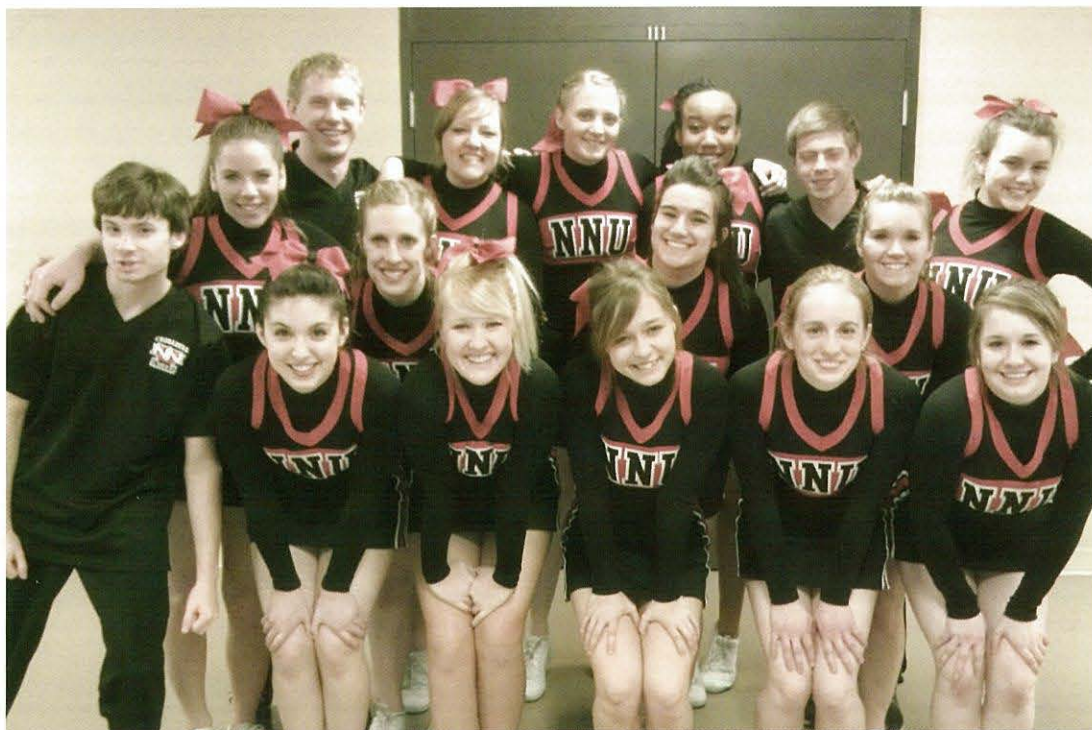

men's BASKETBALL

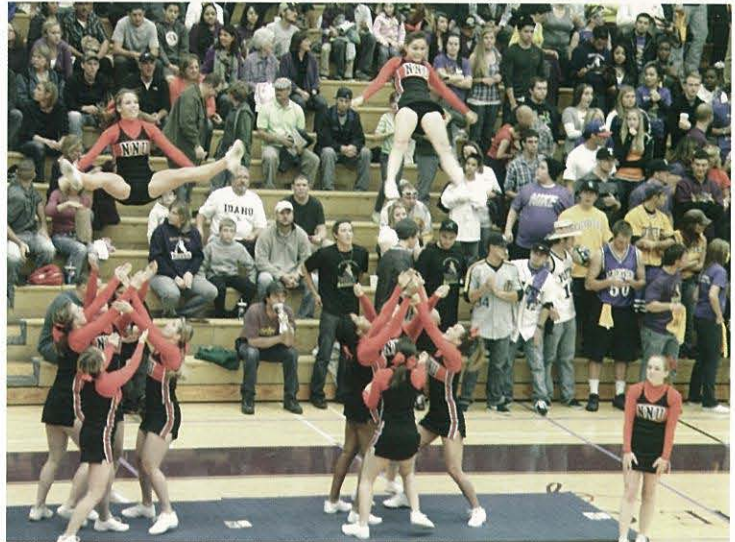

The NNU men's basketball team ended their season with a 13-13 record. Senior basketball player Jon Hawkins shares, "it has been an honor to be with this group of guys. In my whole entire basketball career I have never spent so much time with such character and studly guys." Junior Mario Donaldson shares, "throughout the year we developed a close brotherhood. We had some rocky roads throughout the year, but we finished very strong winning our last three games" The players both shared that one of the favorite memories from the season was beating Anchorage at NNU's home court. Jon Hawkins, Kevin Rima, and Kenny Jones were named to the Great Northwest Athletic Conference 2012-2013 Honorable Mention Team.

CHEERLEADING

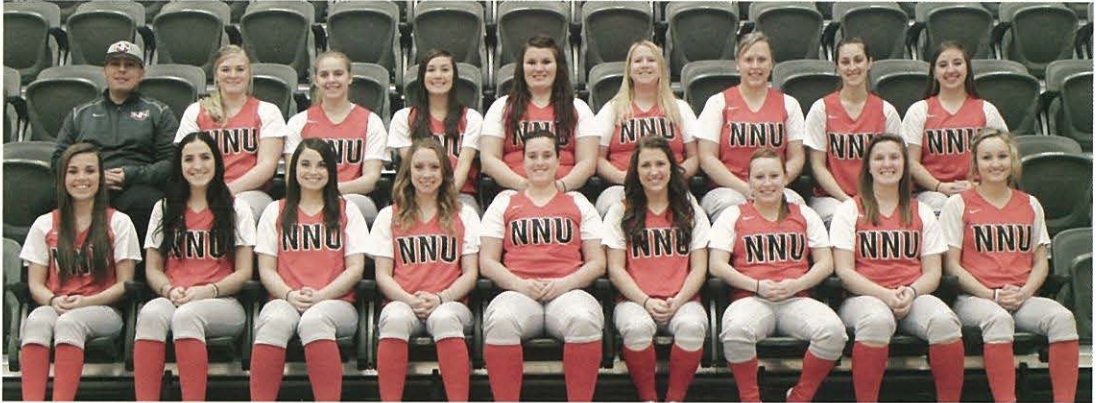

We at NNU cannot imagine a sporting event without the pep of our cheerleaders. Stephanie Kuykendall, the captain of the 2012-2013 NNU Cheer Squad explains, "We had a really good season this year. The girls were so much fun to work with and were a constant encouragement. We got to expand our abilities this year since we had such a big squad and they were all so excited to learn. Although it was a pretty young team they all brought such talent and versatility to the floor. They really helped me to be a better leader and never failed to bring a smile to my face. It was a pleasure to be a part of the squad and to get to know each of them. And a special thanks to the guys who joined us for the last couple games. They really allowed us to finish the season with a bang! I'm excited to hear how great next years' team will be!"

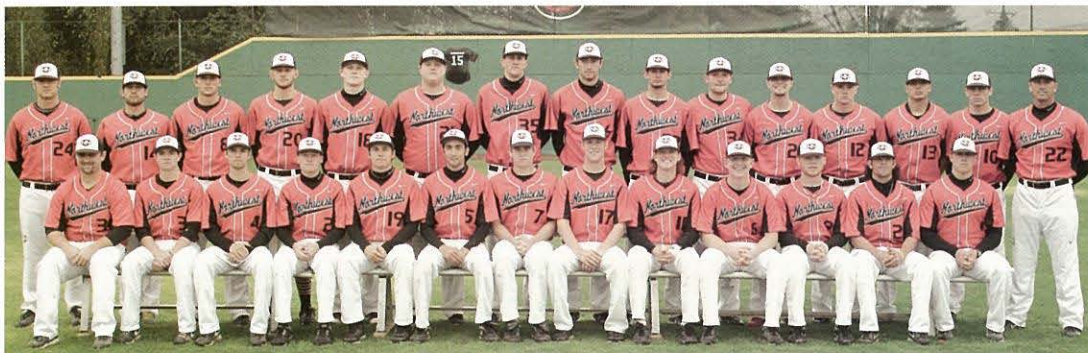

SOFTBALL

The softball team has had a great season this year with a new coach and a young team. Kayla Fadenrecht, a senior, had this to say about the season: "I believe that we were the first team to begin rebuilding the program and set a precedent for the expectations of this team. Coach Wags has been great this year and I think the team and this program will be very successful in the years to come."

BASEBALL

The baseball team has had a grand slam of a season this year. Not only did they travel to Hawaii to play but also they have a great overall record. With great players like Charlie Gorzo who leads in runs scored, Greg Hata leading in home runs, and Logan Parker with a .366 batting average it's no wonder that they are knocking their opponents out of the park!

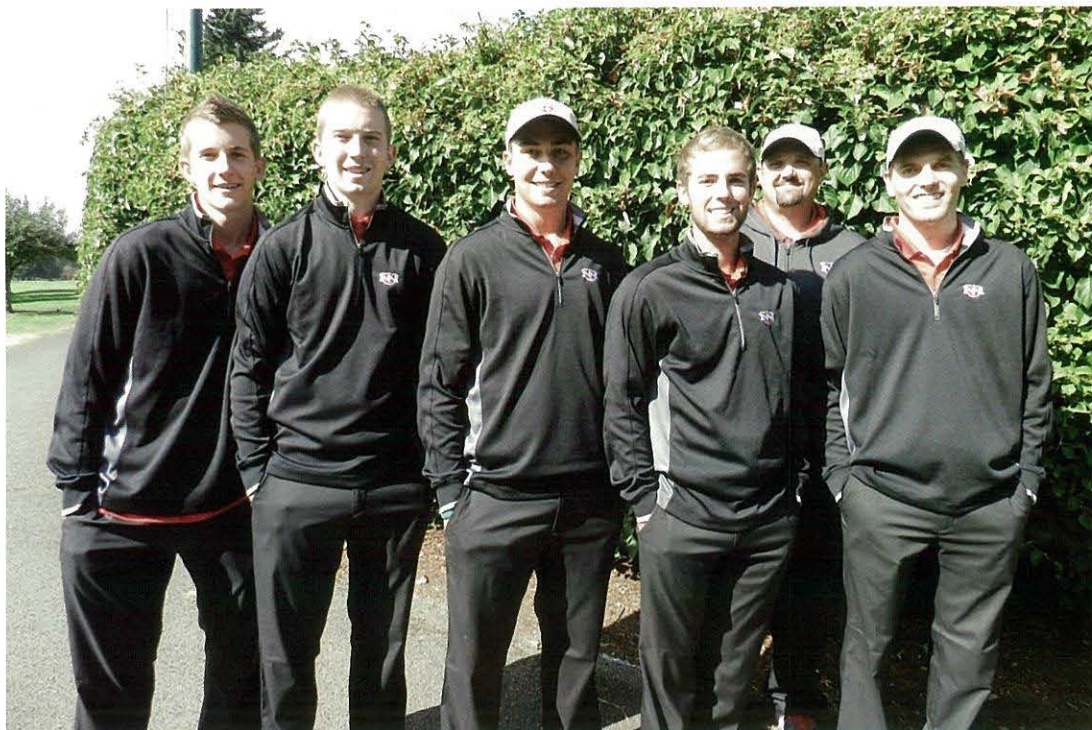

TRACK AND FIELD

The Crusader Track and Field teams both finished the season strong. In women's throwing Carly Dranginis placed 2nd, Alicia Hedrick 4th, Jazzy Warrington 5th and Vessie Umu 6th. Vessie also placed 2nd in shot put. Melissa Merioles took 1st in the 400 meter. For the men's team Rimar Christie placed 2nd in 60 meters and 5th in hurdles. The boys 4X4 relay took 2nd place. Both Crystabel Leonce and Rimar Christie broke school records in prelims. There were so many other great performances and tons of PR's, the Crusaders were represented well by the Track and Field team.

GOLF

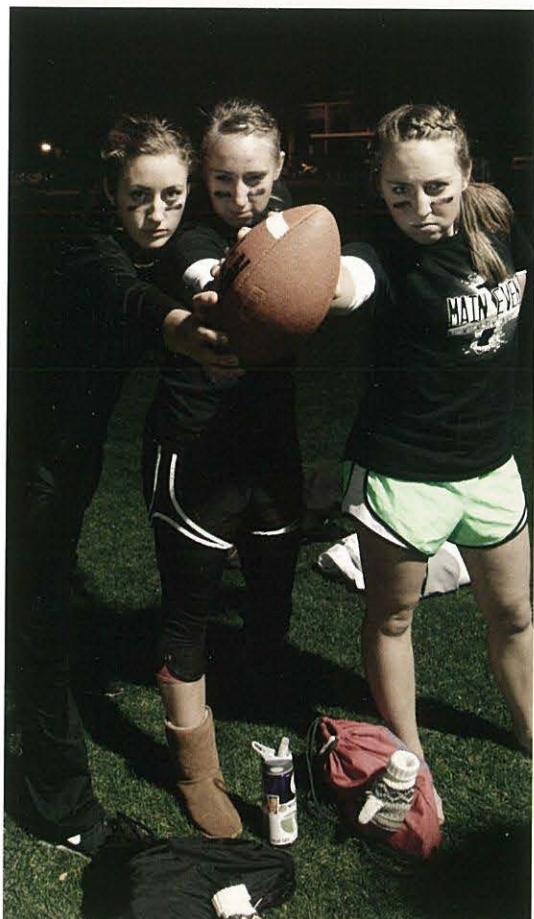

The men and (and for the first time) women's golf teams opened their seasons swinging. The men's team had many top finishes. Brock Sargent and Michael Delie both finished 1-under at the Cal Baptist Invitational. Nick Hardy had an overall +4 rating. On the girls side Haley Gochnour finished eleventh at the Corbal University Golf Invitational, and Jessica Knight finished strong with a +21 rating. Both teams played well at all the tournaments and have great scores to show for it.

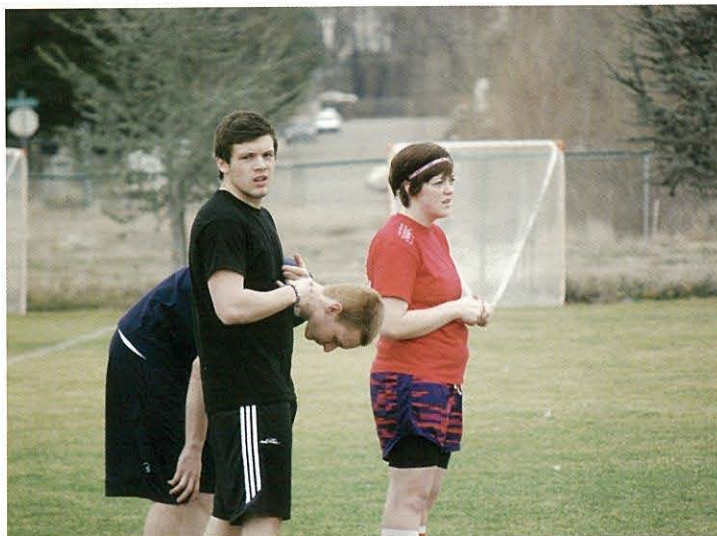

FALL INTRAMURALS

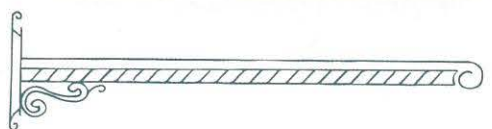

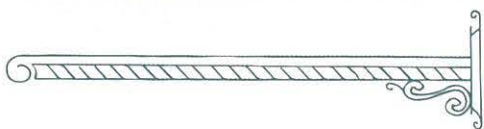

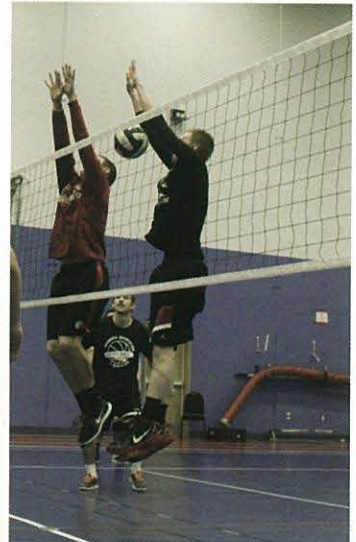

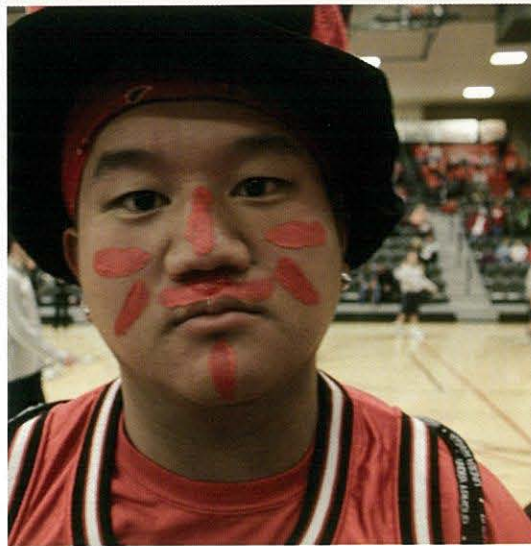

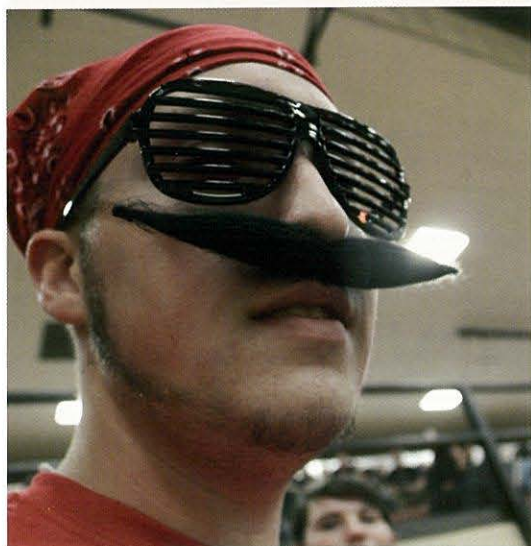

Basketball, soccer, flag football, beach volleyball are just a few of the intramurals offered the first semester of the year. Students picked their teams and names and Adam Freiburghaus, the coordinator of intramurals, put together the competitions. Whether it was watching the flag football finals under the stadium lights, or the soccer finals in the Johnson Sports Center; spectators and players alike enjoyed some intense competition and well deserved wins.

SPRING INTRAMURALS

The spring intramural season included men and women's basketball, coed soccer, coed volleyball and coed softball. These sports gave students an opportunity to take a break from homework and to get in touch with their competitive side. Whether participating or just watching, all students enjoy being involved in the intramural sports!

CRU CRAZIES

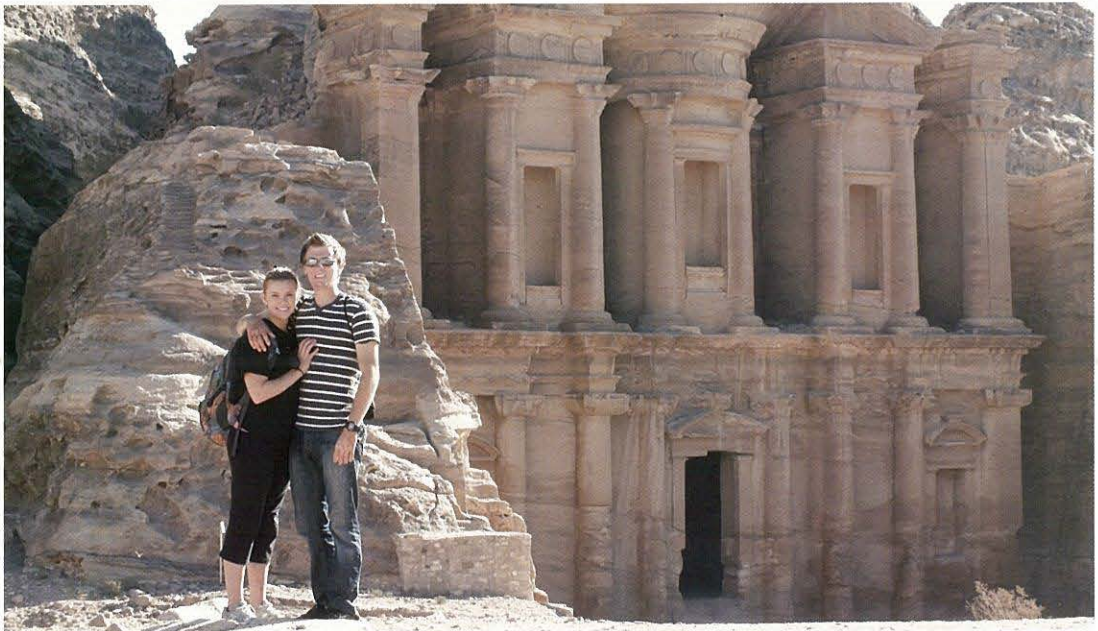

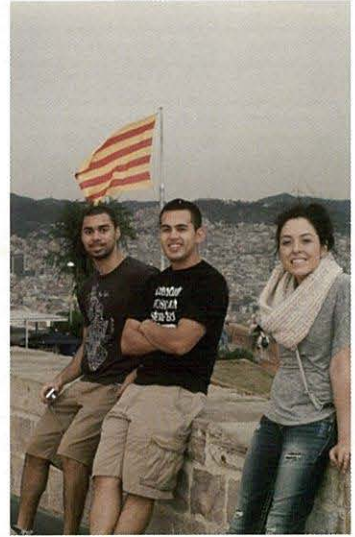

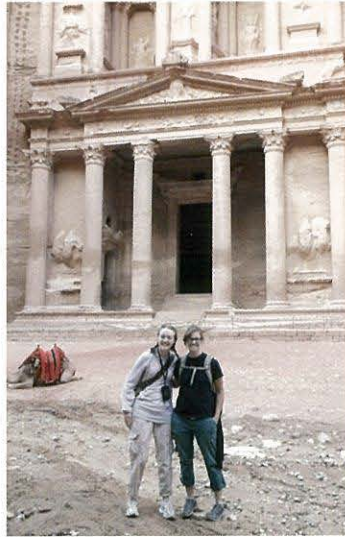

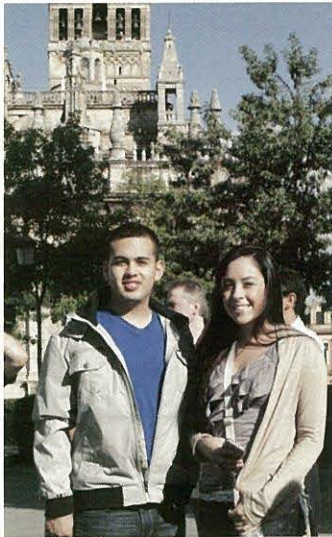

Sports would not be the same without the Cru-Zoo; the group of fan-leaders vow at every game to give one-hundred-and ten percent. Whether it's donning crazy red and black outfits or running to and fro in order to pump up the crowd, fans and athletes alike always noticed the Cru-Zoo. The Crusader fans are so supportive and make the games a blast to attend.

STUDY ABROAD

A handful of students had the opportunity to do a semester abroad and study within their field while being exposed to a new and different culture. Betty Barragan studied fall semester of 2012-13 in Spain, Rachael Snyder and Rhonda Manely studied together in Israel, Rebecca Cossel did her semester abroad in Costa Rica in the spring, and Chelsea Barr and Taylor Shields went to Jerusalem, Israel.

WHO'S WHO

Those chosen to receive the Who's Who honor are among the brightest and best of the senior and junior classes. Qualified upperclassmen were nominated by department chairs and faculty to be placed on the ballot. Twenty students were then chosen among the nominations. The Who's Who representatives are given the honor of representing NNU in the publication of, "Who's Who Among Students."

CRUSADER NEWS

The CRUSADER

The Crusader, lead by the Editor-in-Chief Kory Rayborn, went through some dramatic changes this year. The biggest change was that the newspaper is now paperless. The students still enjoyed receiving the Top Ten, and sudoku after chapel with a highlight of the articles included. The staff of the Crusader did an excellent job bringing together local, global and NNU specific news that is relevant to the student body.

COFFEE: THE STUDENT'S DRINK OF CHOICE

By Joanna Walker

With midterms in full swing, many students are finding solace in the consumption of a certain caffeine-packed beverage: coffee. Though the utilization of coffee for its stimulating effects has been around for ages, the mechanisms underlying these effects are still actively under investigation. A simple question emerges from this realization: Is it beneficial for students to consume coffee in preparation for exams?

Well, it turns out that this simple question is actually quite complex. Scientists studying the health effects of coffee often come to conflicting conclusions. How then, can we classify the effects of coffee consumption as generally positive or negative? In order to effectively answer this question, one must weigh the corresponding pros and cons of coffee consumption.

Let's start out with the benefits. Perhaps the most important of all the aspects of coffee consumption is the factor of taste. There is an obvious relationship between mood and the consumption of something with a pleasing flavor. Thus, it follows that one who enjoys drinking coffee will benefit from the consumption – at least in the short term – on a psychological level (with potential boosts in academic performance).

Those that are indifferent to the coffee flavor would not benefit in this way from consumption. Those that dislike the flavor would likewise not benefit, but most likely due to the fact that they will choose not to consume coffee in the first place; some people in the latter two categories may choose to drown the coffee in other substances – such as milk, sugar, and artificial flavor additives – to make it more palatable. In this case, they may benefit from consumption just as much as those who enjoy the pure taste of coffee.

In addition to taste satisfaction, there are also biological benefits to coffee consumption. Caffeine, a well-known stimulant, is one of the most abundant substances in coffee; it is usually present on the order of 107-151 mg in a standard cup. After being absorbed by the stomach and intestines, caffeine disperses throughout the body.

At this point, caffeine can affect the body in a variety of ways; the most notable effect occurs in the brain. Caffeine targets structures called adenosine receptors. When caffeine binds to these receptors, it blocks adenosine from being able to bind as it normally would. Since adenosine dampens brain activity when bound to the receptor, caffeine intake can stimulate heightened brain activity.

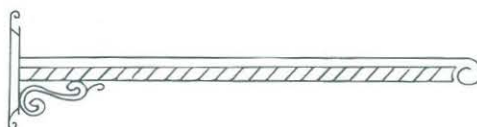

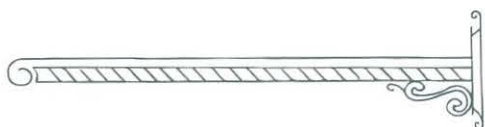

With heightened cognitive capacity, one could certainly experience an enhanced ability for memory and recall. These stimulating effects also contribute to coffee's ability to counter grogginess. Consequently, coffee can be helpful to students who have trouble staying up to study or waking up for exams.

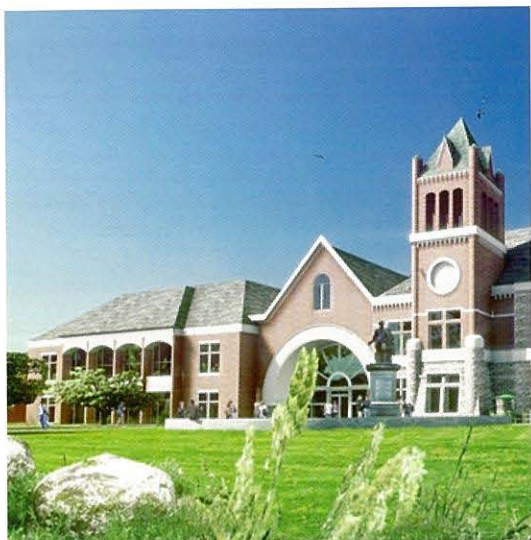

As with most things in life, too much of a good thing can often have negative consequences. Although moderate coffee consumption – around 3-4 cups a day – can increase mental activity, high consumption can lead to over-stimulation. This corresponds to hyperactivity, jitteriness, inability to focus, and restlessness. These effects would detract from one's ability to study for or take an exam.

Coffee consumption can also be accompanied by a slightly inconvenient side effect. As caffeine is a diuretic, one may experience a more frequent need to visit the bathroom after sufficient coffee intake. This could prove troublesome for students taking timed exams.

At the end of the day, students must take the decision into their own hands. If coffee works for you, I salute my fellow enthusiast. Or perhaps your caffeinated beverage of choice is tea, which, in my opinion, is a respectable alternative.

But if none of these work for you, well, I sincerely hope you get enough sleep to render caffeine consumption unnecessary. Otherwise, this wave of exams could leave its mark on both your health and your report card.

nnu ANNOUNCES PLANS FOR A LEARNING COMMONS

By Joanna Walker

For many people, college is a time for growing, making friends, and making memories. It is also, and I may argue more importantly, a time for academic development. After all, the one tangible item that all graduates take away from college is a degree. Successfully earning a degree requires an active engagement in the learning process. This commitment can be tested when we struggle with challenging courses, or when we simply can't find a good place to study.

Our University is devoted to the success of its students, and it constantly strives to offer resources that facilitate active learning. In response to a growing need for academic support and additional resources, NNU has announced that construction for a new Learning Commons will begin on March 8th of this year. The building is scheduled to open in the fall of 2014.

Although conceptual planning began in 2008, sufficient funds for construction did not become available until this fall. With a $4.6 million grant from the J.A. and Kathryn Albertson Foundation, NNU can now seriously pursue this long awaited addition to campus. Along with jump-starting construction on the Learning Commons, the funds were granted to the University to establish the NNU Center of Innovation in Teaching and Learning. This center will provide support for teachers – NNU faculty and area-wide educators – in using technology and assessing its effectiveness in the classroom.

Construction of the Learning Commons will add around 35,000 square feet to the existing Riley Library, almost tripling its size. The interior of the current library will be completely remodeled in the building process. In addition, the circle drive and University Boulevard (the section in front of Brandt Center lawn) will be converted into grass.

The Learning Commons will be multifunctional, serving as a library and a center for many campus resources. In fact, many existing resources will be relocating to the Learning Commons. These include the Academic Support Center (ASC), Academic Advising and Testing, E-Learning Services, and Technology and Media Resources (TMR). With so many academic resources in one location, students may find it easier to obtain the help they need.

Dr. Sharon Bull, Dean of Learning Resources and Riley Library Director, is particularly excited about this centralization of resources: "The main lobby will have a service center, where students can come with questions and be directed to the appropriate resource. If they need help writing a paper, we will send them to meet with a writing tutor. If they are having computer problems, we will send them to TMR. If they need help doing research, we will send them to one of our librarians." This integration of multiple services into one building will prove advantageous for future students.

If you have any ideas or suggestions regarding the new Learning Commons, join the conversation on crusader.nnu.edu.

SEALAND- A COUNTRY SMALLER THAN A FOOTBALL FIELD

By Sacha Johnston

War II, Sealand was supposed to be placed within the 3 mile territorial radius. For reasons unknown, however, it was developed 7 miles away from the coast, placing it in international waters.

This man made island-platform was used during the war, but shortly after was abandoned. The platform should have been deconstructed as was planned, but somehow escaped the deconstruction process. Its existence was forgotten for many years until in 1966 when Roy Bates took on this fortress and made it into a radio station featuring the "Radio Essex."

This activity on the abandoned platform did not enthrall the English government, and soon they demanded that Roy close down his radio station since it did not meet their protocol expectations. As the Sealand Governmental websites states, "Roy never did bring his radio station back to life but instead after taking much advice from his lawyers had the idea to declare this fortress island the independent state of "Sealand" (History)."

Roy succeeded and on September 2nd of 1967 Roy proclaimed Sealand an independent country. In celebration, he raised Sealand's national flag and proclaimed his wife Princess of Sealand.

To this day Sealand has it's own currency, exchange, constitution, national anthem and postage stamps (Cooke).

At one point it even had its own passport, however, the royal family, not too appreciative of how freely their passports were being sold and distributed, decided to stop the issuing of passports altogether. There are 27 people living on board the platform, (History).

In 1978, a man named Alexander Achenbach and a few of his associate invaded Sealand while Bates and his wife were away. Attempting to take control of Sealand, Alexander took Bate's son Michael hostage. However, Bates returned and retook his country in a helicopter raid. In the process he took Alexander prisoner until German diplomats freed the man (Phillips and Yardley).

Subsequently, the country of Sealand caught fire on June 23rd of 2006 (Sealand). In this tragedy, a security guard was airlifted to a hospital, and twenty firefighters were recruited to help out at the scene (Sealand). As a result, on the following day at 23:15 the family pledged to rebuild Sealand, literally. On the October 9th of this year, Bates passed away and appointed his son as heir to the throne (Phillips).

TOP TEN REASONS YOU SHOULD GET INVOLVED IN TIME OUT

10. Alternate Chapel Credit. Who are we kidding?
9. All your friends will be talking about it @ Wednesday Night Live.
8. No adults!!! Okay, actually there will be adults there making sure we don't blow the place up, but the adults support us as students and want to experience how we worship.
7. You are too busy doing homework?? ... right ...
6. Bread and Juice.
5. Communion with your school family.
4. It is what it says it is. Don't pretend like you don't miss getting put in time out for a chance to think things over and make better choices.
3. Your friends will be speaking. You don't want to miss that.
2. Let's face it, you and your friends ain't never gonna arrange a Dutch Bros run, movie break, or distracted activity that lasts one hour and is as well put together and truly peaceful as Time Out.
1. College term of the day; intrinsic value.

A HOLINESS TRADITION

By Autumn Tustin

This being my fourth and final year at NNU, I can tell you, before the first month of school comes to a close, that there is something different about this year. There's a certain spirit about campus, and it's not due to a spike in caffeine intake at Flying M, or even Alex from the Dex dishing up a healthy portion of 'good ol' fashioned small talk and cheer (although we do appreciate his manner of service)- It's a quiet atmosphere, almost missed at first glance. It's quiet, but it's beautiful. It's Jesus.

Last fall, Campus Ministries Coordinator Benjamin Heidegger called students to take on their faith in a new way by offering many different opportunities of spiritual growth around campus. Ben set the stage by charging the student leaders at LEAD retreat with the responsibility of our campus' spiritual health. Each leader group covered NNU in prayer, from the administration building to the perk, asking for God's guidance in the year to come.

Then last spring, author and speaker Scott Evans joined our journey during Winter Awakening and gave the NNU students a chance for just that: an awakening. For those of you that were present, you understand that it wasn't that he said anything new or mindblowing, it was simply the chance to see the story of our relationship with God from an entirely refreshing angle. "Closer Still" was the subject of Evans' series of talks in the spring (and coincidentally the title of his new book) that focused on returning to our home at the feet of Jesus, and becoming closer still to the person He, God, created each of us to be. To delve even further into my horrific paraphrasing of Winter Awakening, Scott pushed us to redefine what we knew as faith- that the avoidance of sin cannot be the definition of Christianity. Instead, it is our calling to find out the human draw to those sins, and rather than settling on simply "not sinning", break each sin down at its origin and find out what is really going on. Trust me, as I write this I know it all sounds cliché- but that's because it is. A Christian community, actually on fire for Jesus? Can it really be? Could it actually happen?! Yes and yes. "I feel like the commitment level is there. We're putting action to our words and we haven't done that before. When prayer and fasting week is here, we buckle down and do it because we know that God can bless our efforts. People are hungry for things like timeout and to hear from speakers like Scott Evans, and when Gene challenges us, we take the challenge. We're up to it. We want to grow, and it goes beyond a one night experience at the altar," said senior Kelsey Shacklett.

She's right. There's no shame in fully accepting our identity in Christ, and as my years in this community have passed, I've watched our students grow closer and closer in relationship to God. We're not just sitting around talking philosophy and drinking tea, we are actually doing something about our faith, and it deserves attention. So that's what has been done.

Seniors Jordan Liljegren and Kaylee Bunn addressed the faculty and staff by way of written expression along with the signatures of over one hundred students, asking each staff member for their valuable wisdom and partnership as we grow towards becoming a closer community of faith. Chaplain Gene Schandorff asked Scott to join us once more this fall to get the ball rolling, and if you'll spare me the liberty of saying so, it has been an incredible start. "We came back to campus expecting God to move in real, powerful ways, and he has not disappointed us! I believe that, in NNU, we have an incredible opportunity to discover who God is and respond to him within the context of a community in which we can find love and support. Last week we were lucky enough to welcome back our favorite Irishman, Scott Evans, and it was such a blessing to be able to have him encourage and challenge students and faculty alike. The truth is, we serve an astounding God, and this calls for a real response. Something is starting to simmer, and in the months ahead, I am expecting this place to boil over with Jesus!" says Kaylee Bunn, this year's SGA Campus Ministries Coordinator.

My friends, we have been given the opportunity of a lifetime. We are attending a school that allows us to ask the tough questions, seek out the answers, and pursue God with no reservations. We are fulfilling a tradition that was set in place on these grounds one hundred years ago. We are Nazarene. If you were unaware, the Nazarene church comes from the holiness tradition, and here is a little explanation from the official Nazarene website: "Nazarenes believe that God calls Christians to a life of holy living that is marked by an act of God, cleansing the heart from original sin and filling the individual with love for God and mankind.” and from Closer Still, “Holiness is not our ability to learn Bible verses, attend church or obey rules. Holiness is not perfection. Holiness is living what we believe, letting our lives become a manifestation of the God we have come to know and experience.” Let us do just that this year. Let us seek out holiness by running, with everything in us, to the person of Jesus and the love that is our God.

Welcome to the 2012-2013 school year.

PALESTINE, ISRAEL, EGYPT, OH MY

By Sarah Blum

On November 29, 1947, the UN voted to partition Palestine. The Jewish nationalists were officially given a homeland and the state of Israel has since grown in size from the small portion of Western Palestine originally mandated them.

On November 29, 2012, the UN voted to recognize Palestine as a non-member observer state of that body. Palestinian President Mahmoud Abbas submitted the candidacy of that nation on behalf of Fatah, one of two groups fighting within Palestine. The move could be beneficial for Assad in regaining some authority, even with Fatah's adversary, Hamas, which has been receiving sympathy as the target of recent Israeli rockets. Hamas mainly occupies Gaza, and it has been the stronger party of the two in recent history.

The Israelis, whose land mass has increased greatly since the 1947 allotment, have qualms about a decision that will give Palestine authority in the UN to charge Israel for their war-won land, their settlements in Gaza, or various other issues. However, moves of this kind are more likely to disturb the peace process than assist it. Assad has announced his intentions of using statehood to negotiate better with Israel, but when Palestine is divided in two warring factions, the legitimacy of any discussion with one administration presuming to speak for two is marred.

On November 14, Israel mobilized its troops and launched an eight-day offensive that ended in a cease-fire. Mobilization of troops is a very expensive, not to mention alarming move they haven't made since 2009, despite multiple rocket attacks by Hamas since then. What preceded this act of Israeli aggression toward Palestine?

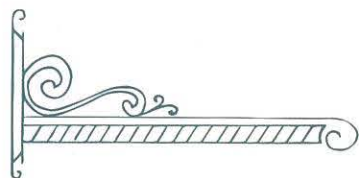

These two nations, one just a few days old, aren't the only two involved here. Israel blockaded their southern border after the 2007 events with Hamas, but smuggling ensued that has led to "secret tunnels" between Egypt and Gaza. Among items being smuggled into Gaza are Fjar-5 rockets, long-range, high payload missiles with serious damage potential, likely coming from Iran, which contributed to Israel's offensive movement. Egypt's secular leader Hosni Mubarak wasn't friendly to Hamas; the emerging leadership of the Muslim Brotherhood is. Current Egyptian president, Muhammad Morsi, made recent moves that overstepped his bounds in a supposed democracy on the same day that Palestine was recognized in the UN; what this bodes for Israel, and for that matter the entire region, is still up in the air.

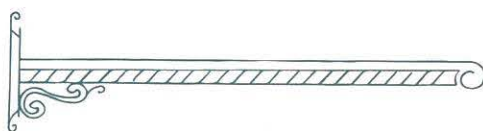

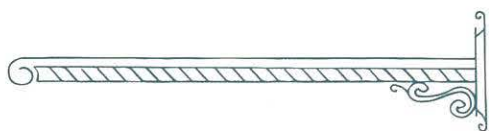

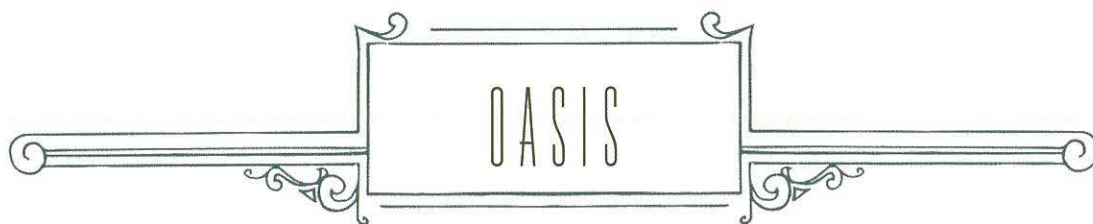

OASIS

The Editor-in-Chief of Oasis Stephanie Blaser, along with her amazing staff, spent many long hours designing, editing, and creating a yearbook that was worthy of the Oasis name. Each page of this yearbook is filled with beautiful photography and copy in hopes to capture each cherished moment of the 2012-2013 year. The hope of the Oasis staff is that you will find yourself looking back at this year with many fond memories that you will be able to keep forever!

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

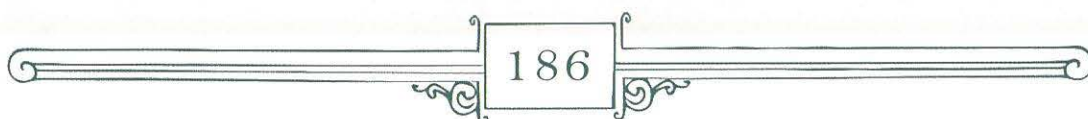

Brad Elsberg, Emily Schulz, and Jacob Hanson; thank you so much for making student portraits possible through your huge contribution of equipment and time on picture days.

Craig Stensgaard, Taylor Roberts, Johnny Vanderschaaft, Leon Vasquez and Devon Selleck; thank you for your contribution of sports photos.

Tim Millburn, Kenton Lee and Jamie Coleman; thank you for helping us with last minute photos we were not able to get.

Cody Pearson, Lucas Lyon, Brad Hammer, and Ryan O'Neil; thank you for helping with all the tedious indexing.

Lastly, thank you so much to all those involved with making the yearbook happen, we could not have done it without you.
